Seibels House and Garden

Located in the heart of downtown Columbia's historic district lies one of the city's most popular venues for wedding festivities, corporate meetings, holiday parties, and other special occasions. Believed to be the oldest house in Columbia, the Seibels House has stood for more than 200 years as the epitome of gracious southern hospitality that transforms special occasions into historic events.

History

Due to a succession of owners throughout the centuries, the circa-1796 Seibels House today is a pleasing blend of several architectural styles. Doric columns support a piazza stretching the entire length of the building and dominate the front facade. The interior is accentuated by Colonial Revival details including molding and medallions that enhance the building's rooms and foyer. A sun porch, added in the 1920s, offers grand views of the thriving gardens. One of Columbia's most treasured buildings, the house was donated to Historic Columbia in 1984 and adapted for offices and rental space.
Garden

Long celebrated for its beautiful garden, the Seibels House garden is often mentioned in 19th- and 20th-century travelogues and articles. The garden received a comprehensive transformation in 2007 through the vision of contemporary horticulturist A. Jenkins Farmer, featuring a revitalized landscape that merges existing historic elements with heritage plantings to showcase the contributions of generations of gardeners. The Columbia Garden Club has had a long and active relationship with Historic Columbia. We have worked together weeding gardens, in project design and by assisting in funding multiple projects associated with the historic homes and gardens of Columbia. We are grateful for the generous donation of the use of the Seibels house for our flower show this year.

6. Plant material may not be altered by the application of oil, commercial “shine” products, etc. that may artificially change the natural color and texture of an entry.
7. All classes will be sub-divided by species, variety, cultivar and color as necessary by the Classification Committee and will be judged accordingly. HB pg. 307
8. The Flower Show Committee will furnish clear or specialized glass bottles for display of cut specimens.
9. Cut specimens should not have foliage below water line.
10. Wedging is permitted and encouraged. Use clear plastic wrap only (available at show).
11. No South Carolina conservation plant material may be exhibited as horticulture. See list on page 25.

Entry card information can be found on page 9. Please use a pencil to prevent smearing should the card get wet.
18. Entry Step (1). Exhibitors should strive to correctly identify horticulture specimens and research the botanical/cultivar name prior to the show. If help is required, Horticulture Identification will be the first stop in the entry process. The exhibitor proceeds to the Horticultural Entry Committee and then to the Horticultural Classification Committee.

19. After identification, Step (2). Exhibitor must check in with Entry Committee to be assigned an ENTRY NUMBER. This number will be placed on all the exhibitor's entry cards as well as the exhibitor's name, and address. Exhibitors with many entries are encouraged to contact the Horticulture Entry Chairman in advance to secure a number and entry cards.

20. Exhibitor then proceeds to Step (3). Horticultural Classification is where the entry is checked for conformance to schedule requirements and for flower show quality. Exhibitors must submit only those entries that are clean, without dead leaves, spent blooms, or spray residue and are free of insects/disease.

21. Step (4). Entries are placed in the show by the Placement Committee. Due to space and time limitations, only staging and placement committees may be on the floor in the horticulture section during placement of exhibits.
